Logan And Ashville Bands Win Competition

TEN UNITS JOIN IN CONTEST FOR CASH PREMIUMS

Lancaster And Circleville Finish Second, Third In Class A Event

At Single Time

In a band contest which many declared was one of the most colorful events of the Pumpkin Show this year the Logan High School band was awarded top honors, winning over the Lancaster and the Circleville high school bands in a close race among the three top positions. Second honors went to Lancaster and third to Circleville in Thursday's contest.

Wilbur C. Crist, director of instrumental music at Capital University, said he gave all three bands a Grade A rating, and said that he felt the Circleville band and the Lancaster band played equally well, but that the Circleville band was weaker in its marching. In order to give all bands participating in the contest an equal chance, he did not consider uniforms, he said.

Union Furnace High School band was awarded fourth place with Groveport and Amanda receiving fifth and sixth places respectively, in the six-band class A contest.

Ashville Unit First

Four schools participated in the class B contest, open to schools of Pickaway County. Ashville received first place and Walnut Township second with Williamsport taking third position and Pickaway Township fourth.

Winner in the class A division received a cash prize of $50, while the winner in the class B division was awarded $25. All bands competing won prizes.

The contest, staged at the Circleville High School athletic field, preceded the band parade beginning at 8:30 p. m. Four other bands besides those participating in the contest marched in the parade. They were the American Legion drum corps, the Blocc Post, Columbus, the Veterans of Foreign Wars drum corps Chillicothe, and the Adelphi band.

Dan McClain, official in charge of the parade, estimated that nearly 700 band members paraded through the street of downtown Circleville during the event.

Announced at Courthouse

Winners of the contest were announced by Chairman McClain from the courthouse steps, after the judge had reviewed each band from the bleachers at the athletic field. Bands appeared at the west end of the field, marched across the field, turned and returned to the center where each played one number before Judge Crist.

MINISTRY REVEALS DEFEAT OF NAZI INVASION THRUST

LONDON, Oct. 18—Great Britain has defeated the first attempt by the German army to invade England, the Air Ministry divulged in a dramatic announcement today.

The attempt was made on September 16, when a large number of crack German shock troops embarked from continental channel ports and headed for English shores, the air ministry disclosed.

Advised of the invasion move within a few minutes after it began, British Royal Air Force bombers roared across the channel and launched a terrific attack against the Nazi troop ships.

The ferocity of the RAF assault was so great that the Germans were forced to abandon the attack.

British quarters indicated that the RAF while being advised of important ship movements in the German held channel ports on that day, was not actually aware at the time that an invasion attempt was being made.

It was thought that the troop ships were probably being prepared for a possible invasion attempt. Nevertheless, the RAF bombers rained down tons of high explosives on the ships and also swooped low to sweep their decks with a withering hail of machine-gun fire.

The British attack was so fierce that the German armada was broken up and those ships which had started out were forced to flee back to port.

The British flyers thought at the time it was just part of another day's work. Now, according to the Air Ministry announcement, information has been received from a neutral source disclosing that German troops had actually been embarked on those ships for an invasion of England, but the plans were not carried out because of the sustained offensive by the RAF.

OIL COMPANY'S FLOAT IS BEST

Judges Declare All Entries
Outstanding; Daily Herald
Takes Second Money

The beautiful float of the Circleville Oil Co., trimmed in primrose and red with splashes of fall colors and carrying a gold-colored dragon, won the major award for Class A floats, Thursday, when judges decided it was the outstanding entry of the parade. The first prize premium was $75.

Riding on the float in Thursday's parade were Mary Ruth Owens, Doris Waters and Jane Klingensmith. Louise Helvagen, who had ridden on the float in previous parades, was loaned Thursday to the Circleville Ice Co., which was without a girl to adorn its entry, so she missed the honor of riding on the prize winning float. She returned to the Oil Company float for the Thursday night parade.

Judges picked the float of the Circleville Herald, which carried Miss Gloria Jane Wilson, 'Miss Pumpkin Show', and several other young ladies, as second, and third prize went to the Blue Ribbon Dairy entry, on which rode the Misses Donna Dill, Marguerite Martin and Marlene Martin.

The Daily Herald's float was of purple and lavender with a globe placed on the front of the float. The Dairy's entry was a light blue and primrose structure, carrying a large milk bottle and two miniature cows.

Second and third awards were $50 and $25.

In Class B, awards went to The Kroger Co. and Pettit's Appliance (Continued on Page Eight)

F. D. TO ANSWER FOE'S CHARGES

President Tells LaGuardia
He Will State Facts;
Addresses Planned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—President Roosevelt prepared today to fulfill the pledge he made three months ago when he declared that—despite the campaign limitations placed on him by national defense exigencies—he would not fail to answer any political statements he considered unfounded.

In a 40-word message reflecting his obvious irritation over claims of Republican speakers, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed a last-minute decision to assume an active part in the culminating presidential campaign.

The message, read to a Pittsburgh audience last night by New York's Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, said:

"Will you extend my sincere greetings to the people gathered to hear you tonight. There has been so much deliberate misrepresentation in this campaign that I am determined personally to correct this misrepresentation and give the people the true facts."

Coming only a few hours after announcement that Mr. Roosevelt would make four major speeches before the November 5 election, the presidential statement was followed by an assertion by LaGuardia—prime campaigner for the executive's reelection—that hereafter "Mr. Willkie will be talking to some one other than himself."

"Believe me," said LaGuardia, "we'll get the true facts—in keeping with the dignity of the President of the United States."

And so Mr. Roosevelt, who always likes to win a fight once he is in it, mapped out a last-minute drive to wrest the 134 electoral votes of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts and Connecticut from his Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie.

BRITISH TRUCKS REACH KUNMING ON BURMA ROAD

LASHIO, Burma, Oct. 18—Two hundred trucks, vanguard of 2,000 that will carry 100,000 tons of supplies to China's defense forces, were reported to have reached Kunming today after a speedy trip over the 700-mile Burma Road, reopened by Britain in the face of threatened Japanese reprisals.

Drivers reported the journey was "without incident," although Japan had threatened to launch air bombing attacks from bases in French Indo-China.

The 200 trucks were led by a spearhead of 60 which carried only Japanese textiles and made a "test run" in view of the Japanese warnings. The remaining trucks carried gasoline and other war materials, some from the United States.

Reopening of the Burma Road led to reports that Britain also may open the Hong Kong munitions route into nationalist China. It was estimated that no less than 2,000 trucks would be in motion along the zig-zag, mountain (Continued on Page Eight)

LONDON, Oct. 18—Relays of rescue squads who worked all night and day succeeded in removing 175 of more than 200 men, women and children trapped in the aid shelters of a huge tenement building levelled by German bombs.

As they continued their task in the hope of saving the remainder, German planes resumed their day attacks on London after one of the longest lulls since the air offensive began on a large scale nearly a fortnight ago.

LONDON, Oct. 18—Terrific Royal Air Force counter-blows against the Nazi military machine marked Anglo-German aerial warfare today following another night-long assault on London which proved less severe than attacks earlier in the week.

From the southeast coast this morning came reports of tremendous explosions from the direction of the French "invasion coast," and it was believed that British bombers were once more raiding German-occupied ports.

The blasts, which occurred shortly after daybreak, were so heavy they shook the Kent coast of England.

Last night RAF bombers also hammered the French coast ports with tons of explosives and British sources said more than 100 raids had struck the battered Nazi bases in the last two weeks.

JUDGE DECLARES JURY TAMPERING BEING STUDIED

Charges of "jury tampering" were investigated Friday by Common Pleas Judge F. M. Acton of Fairfield County who asserted that the grand jury had been tampered with in its consideration of a gambling case.

In dismissing the jury when it failed to return an indictment against Charles White, formerly of Circleville, and his associates charged with promoting a game of chance, Judge Acton said, "I was warned several days ago that this jury had been unlawfully tampered with in its consideration of a gambling case. Now I am forced to believe that charge is true."

White and three other men were arrested last August by Sheriff William J. Bellhorn in a raid on an alleged numbers house.

Aboard Willkie Train Enroute Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18—After having charged in St. Louis, Mo., that the re-election of President Roosevelt might mean the sending of American boys to fight in Europe's war, Wendell Willkie today turned his attention to Henry Wallace, Democratic vice presidential candidate and asserted that—by inference—the candidate has recorded the New Deal as opposed to the free enterprise system.

Willkie's war involvement warning was a surprise insert in a prepared speech which he delivered to an audience of 20,000 at St. Louis arena.

The largest pumpkin is the property of Fred Cook, Circleville R.F.D. 3. William A. Duvall of Ashville Route 2 owns the pumpkin determined to be the best for pie purposes.

Judges of the pumpkin display, which was directed by Leslie D. May, were M. W. Austin and J. C. Hoffman of the horticulture department of Ohio State University.

The $35 prize for the best display of pumpkins went to Mr. Duvall, with the same entry taking second prize money of $25, and Coon Brothers of Ashville R.F.D. 2 winning $10 as third prize. There were five exhibitors.

The Duvall squashes swept that classification, winning $5, $3 and $1 with entries weighing 77 pounds, 53 1/2 pounds and 52 pounds.

FLOWERS SET RECORD

Krinn Reports Number Of Persons Using Rides,
Attractions Down

Prospects of seeing what was expected to be an outstanding Baby Show and Parade brought large crowds of Pumpkin Show visitors into Circleville early Friday to enjoy the next to last day of the celebration.

The grand climax will be reached Saturday, last day of the festival.

Despite breezes that were downright snappy, the Pumpkin Show visitors were touring the various exhibits from early morning hours, many of the attractions receiving much more than passing notice.

One of the beautiful exhibits of the year, and the most outstanding since it was put into the Pumpkin Show, is the flower display on West Main Street. This exhibit, handled by W. Joe Burns and his capable aides, numbers 518 individual entries, more than 150 more than any other Pumpkin Show has brought. Last year only 87 entries were judged, the weather being the important angle in the size of the show.

Eight persons were kept busy all day Thursday placing the flowers on the display racks, and classifying them.

The Baby Show and Parade was expected to be an outstanding one, the procession being scheduled to move at 2 o'clock.

Rides, Shows Off

T. D. Krim, director of the ride and show department, declared Friday that the number of persons enjoying the various diversions was considerably below last year's. The only figures available Friday were those of Wednesday's opener. Paid admissions on rides Wednesday totaled 3,851, compared with 5,201 last year. Admissions to the shows amounted to 3,295 compared with 3,632.

Many veterans of the show said that Thursday night's band parade was one of the finest the show has ever offered, the youthful musicians doing a splendid job of keeping the audience attentive.

Judges were busy Friday winding up their work before the end of the day. Some of the results appear in various parts of Friday's Daily Herald, while many others will appear Saturday. Competition is reported close in many divisions, some of which are the most outstanding ever offered in the Pumpkin Show.

The draft horse show was greeted by a large crowd at the West Mount Street field.

FIRST DRAFTEES TO BE ENROLLED BY NOVEMBER 18

Men Who Failed To Sign Up To Be Given Last Chance To Abide By Law

MANY ACTIVITIES CITED

800,000 TO BE CALLED UP For Training Prior To June, 1941

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 — Men who dodged registration under the draft law Wednesday were given a last chance to register today as the drive to build an army of 1,395,000 men by next June was pushed to bulwark the United States against a future that "only God and Mr. Hitler knows."

Developments in the drive were: 1. Secretary of War Stimson, saying "only God and Mr. Hitler knows" what conditions will be next year, announced that 800,000 of the 17,000,000 men who registered Wednesday would be called up for training by June, 1941 — the first 30,000 of them November 18. 2. Conscription officials planned to hold the national draft lottery in Washington sometime between October 25 and October 29. 3. Draft Director Clarence Dykstra announced that those who failed to register Wednesday would be given until the lottery to "sign up."

4. Draft officials prepared to send out 2,000,000 questionnaires a week to classify conscript registrants. 5. Conscription headquarters reaffirmed its estimate that more than 17,000,000 men of draft age (21 to 36) had registered Wednesday, topping the expected registration of 16,500,000 by approximately half a million. 6. The last of the local draft boards were being named so that the numbers of registrants could be posted within the next few days some of them today, possibly.

Time Table Set Up
Stimson in announcing 800,000 draftees would be called up soon, set the following timetable: November 18—30,000 men; December 2—60,000; January 3—60,000; January 15—90,000; February 10—160,000; March 5—200,000; June 15—200,000.

The war secretary also announced two new armored divisions would be formed and that 126,000 additional National Guardsmen would be called up between January 3 and 19. Thus the United States will have an army of 1,395,000 under training next June. Stimson cracking the whiplash of the draft at Germany, said:

"I can not prophesy any farther than that. I have been rather bold to that far, for only God and Mr. Hitler knows what conditions will be then."

Draft Director Dykstra also took a potshot at the Nazis yesterday a short time after he was sworn into office.

Dykstra said that Wednesday's registration proved that the United States as a democracy was neither soft nor supine. Those who think so may be disappointed, he warned. To show that the draft was not a punitive campaign, but a symbol of democracy in action, Dykstra ordered the reprieve for those who failed to register Wednesday. He sent the following wire to draft directors in all states:

"Some persons unable to register Wednesday. Until national lottery persons who voluntarily present themselves for registration should be registered by local boards and not treated as delinquents."

PETS JUDGED IN VARIED CLASSES

Many Children Put Dogs And Other Animals In Thursday Afternoon Event

Rejuvenated after being eliminated from the Pumpkin Show last year, the Pet Parade received much praise when it was conducted Thursday afternoon despite the fact that some of the classifications were not filled. The division for the greatest variety of pets that usually results in youngsters entering pets of all kinds failed to receive an entry.

The parade was a splendid one, however, with children exhibiting their pet dogs, their cats, pigeons, ponies and anything else that might be classified as a pet. Bugs were taboo under show rules.

Dr. F. C. Schaeffer and John Kellstadt who were in charge of the division announced the following results:

Class A, typical boy and his pet, entries under 12: 1. Teddy Mogan, 401 North Scioto Street; 2. Donald Gorman, 560 East Main Street; 3. Bobby McAlister, Ringgold Pike; 4. Robert Phillips, 624 Beverly Road; 5. Richard Burke, 207 East Mill Street.

PICKAWAY WINS SCHOOL EXHIBIT

First Premium Awarded As L. W. Reese Applauds County Event

Pickaway Township school was awarded first prize in the county school exhibit contest.

In awarding top honors to Pickaway Township, L. W. Reese, superintendent of Washington C. H. schools, pointed out that the Pickaway Township display was "logical, timely and attractive and outlined the fundamental workings of our democratic way of living in the United States."

Other schools participating in the contest similarly carried out the "Democracy" theme in their exhibits. Superintendent Reese stated, saying the exhibits showed that the schools of Pickaway County are on the first line of defense. The pupils, teachers, parents and school officials are commended highly.

Perry Township, Atlanta received second place in the class A division with Darby Township taking third.

Madison Township received first place in the class B division. The school exhibits were judged on quality, authenticity, originality and variety.

POSSES SEARCH FIELDS FOR KIDNAPING SUSPECT

SIDNEY, Oct. 18 — A posse combed the fields around Sidney today for the second suspect in the kidnaping and beating of a Hamilton County deputy after his companion was captured on a freight car. The second suspect fled under gunfire.

The captive was held in the Shelby County jail as police searched the southwestern section of the city without success. It was believed the fugitive might have been wounded.

The two suspects were believed to be the men who handcuffed Deputy Sheriff William Harper to a tree near Hamilton after beating him when he attempted to question them about their car. Later the same pair, according to authorities, robbed Robert Young, of Sidney, and left him tied to a tree.

When deputies located their stolen car, they fled on the freight train. One of them surrendered when the train was surrounded at Sidney, but the other fled.

TRIO CITED AS HORSE BOOKIES

Columbus Man Allegedly Taking Money Out Of City Arrested

Three Columbus men, allegedly operating as race horse bookie pickup men, were taken before Mayor W. B. Cady, Thursday after their arrest in the south end of the city. In their possession was a money container carrying $108, which arresting officers said they were returning to Columbus after being gathered up from Circleville horse bet handlers. Officers said they had no information concerning the identities of the Circleville operators.

Arrested were Joe Sergi, 28, who posted $100 bond on the bookie charge and $25 for failing to display a driver's license when requested by an officer; Charles Brone, 30, who posted $100 on the bookie charge, and Gus Roumelette, 32, who put up $100 on a like citation.

All are scheduled to appear before Mayor W. B. Cady at 9 a. m. Saturday.

The arrests were made by Patrolman Miller Fissell, State Highway Patrolman C. Whipple of Georgetown and Sergeant William Sowers of the Wilmington Highway Patrol office near the Norfolk & Western passenger depot.

One of the men allegedly told Fissell that around $200 was being taken out of Circleville each day to play on the race horses in a Columbus "horse parlor."

Questions And Answers Concerning U. S. Draft

Q. If I volunteer or am inducted, what are my obligations after the year's training?

A. You will be a reserve for 10 years or until you are 45—which ever is first—subject to call in case of war or emergency.

Q. If I am deferred because of my occupation, is that deferment permanent?

A. Probably not. Your employer is supposed to try to replace you within six months.

Q. If I became 36 in the next few months, before I am called, will I then be exempt?

A. No. If you are not 36 by now, you will be subject to the draft for the next five years.

Q. Is there any way, financial or otherwise, that I can get a substitute to go in my place?

A. If you try it and are caught you probably will go to jail.

Q. If I have dependents or otherwise am entitled to deferment, will I get a physical examination?

A. No. Physical examinations will be given only to those otherwise available for service.

Q. If I have a wife or children dependent on me may I volunteer for the one year training?

1. No. To be accepted even as a volunteer you must be in the "immediately available" class. If you have dependents you will be deferred.

Q. If I am paying alimony will I be inducted?

A. Not if your former wife is dependent on the payments. If you are inducted the payments will be suspended during your service.

Q. If I served in the National Guard and received an honorable discharge must I register?

A. Yes, unless you are an active guardsman on registration day.

FAIRFIELD SCHOOL HEAD FACES LARCENY CHARGE

COLUMBUS, Oct. 18—Homer B. Woods, 50-year-old superintendent of schools at Pickerington who has been missing since Tuesday, faced a grand larceny charge today in connection with the theft of a $200 trumpet from a Columbus pawnshop.

Columbus Detective John Phillips said that Woods last week admitted taking the trumpet and selling it to a girl in the Pickerington band for $45. At the request of Lancaster authorities, no charge was placed against him at the time, but he was to have appeared in municipal court today for a hearing.

Fairfield County School Supt. R. M. Eymann has taken over Woods' duties since his disappearance.

GUARDSMEN ON WAY TO SOUTH FOR TRAINING

49 In Circleville Service Battery Unit Entrain For Camp Shelby

EIGHT TRUCKS IN USE Group To Arrive At Base Sunday; Big Advance Groups On Way

Eight Army trucks and a reconnaissance car pulled out of Circleville early Friday, carrying 45 men and four officers to Camp Shelby, Mississippi, for at least a year's military training. In command was Captain William V. Miller, First Lieutenant Tom Drum and Second Lieutenants Paul L. Bowsner and Joseph Lynch. The local unit is expected to arrive in Fort Knox, Kentucky, at 4 p. m. Friday, and will arrive at Camp Shelby Sunday at 1 p. m. The local troops are a part of the advance guard, sent ahead to clear the grounds for the remaining troops, which are expected to arrive nine days later.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 18—General inspections and physical examinations completed, the movement of approximately 9,000 Ohio National Guardsmen to the southland for a year's intensive military training began in earnest today. Advance units of a few hundred men have left for Camp Shelby, Miss., each of the past two days to aid in preparation of the campsite, but most of the guardsmen have been held at the Ohio armories since Mobilization Day last Tuesday. The last and largest of the advance units was to leave today, with Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beighler, commander of the 37th division comprising most of the Ohio Guard, his staff, and the first large body of troops scheduled to leave shortly after midnight. By next Thursday the mammoth troop movement will have been completed, with 79 Ohio communities sending guardsmen to the south.

Full strength of the Ohio Guard is about 11,500 men, but Negro troops, cavalry, aviation units and a tank company will train elsewhere. Maj. Gen. Campbell B. Hodges, commander of the regular army fifth corps area which includes Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, was to relinquish his command today to go south to take over new duties as fifth corps tactical commander, with headquarters at Camp Beauregard, La. The corps will include the Ohio troops. General Hodges will be succeeded as administrative commander of the corps area by Brig. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, a native of Urbana, who will arrive at Ft. Hayes Oct. 25.

OPEN LETTERS

TO SHOW VISITORS

FRIENDS: The closing day of the annual Pumpkin Show is rapidly nearing, and I hope that you do not go home without having visited every display in the Circleville festival. There are some outstanding exhibits in remote parts of the business district, such as the Junior Fair and School Exhibit in East Franklin Street, the livestock exhibits in Pickaway Street, and several others that should receive your attention. Many persons are returning home convinced that this is the best Pumpkin Show ever conducted in Circleville. Many of its exhibits cannot be rivaled. Certainly, some are not quite up to standard, but those that are above their usual class are really outstanding. The appearance of beautifully decorated floats has added much to the color of the various parades, and congratulations must go to the persons who devised the plans for the various entries, and for those who did the work on them. There are so many things good about the Pumpkin Show that I find it difficult to try to elaborate on any one of them. The band competition, the work of the various bands in the parades, the good will being shown by Circleville merchants in an effort to impress visitors that Circleville is the best center in Central Ohio for every day shopping purposes, the courtesy being shown by officers of the law, and their appeals for safe driving to and from the festival, are just a few of the items each of which is sufficient in itself for an Open Letter that would fill this entire column. Every one must remember that our Pumpkin Show is a co-operative undertaking and that its directors are volunteer workers, who expend much effort and time to make it a success. I'll reiterate that you should take in all of the exhibits to have fully appreciated the Pumpkin Show.

TO DRAFT WORKERS

FRIENDS: This is just a note of congratulation to the large number of county and city persons who so willingly offered their services to assist in conducting registration of others in the district eligible to sign up for service of a year under Uncle Sam's banner. The response to the call for precinct booth workers was excellent, and the board of elections is highly pleased by the attitude taken by

WORLD AT A GLANCE

NOT IN SO many words, but by plain implication, Uncle Sam has been threatened by the Axis folk with the dreadful things that'll happen to him if he stays as pro-British as he is now.

It's news though to have the Axis remark that he'll get his share of the gravy if John Bull is licked, as per the Axis' desired program.

This, however, is what Benito Mussolini's newspaper the Popolo d'Italia suggested the other day. Benito, it's to be borne in mind is a newspaperman personally. Virgilio Gayda everlastingly is referred to as his spokesman. No doubt he really is in close touch with the Duce. But the Popolo actually is Benito's own paper. What that daily says is direct from the fountainhead. It's as if Benito himself said it.

Well, the Popolo's prediction is that, assuming the squashing of J. Bull's own Isle by the Axis, the U. S. A. automatically will get Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the British West Indies.

Benito doesn't make this exactly as an offer. It's more in the nature of a forecast of something inevitable.

AS FOR HITLER
What Fuchrer: Hitler thinks

all who volunteered their services. No pay was provided for the persons who worked at the precinct booths. Their only remuneration was in the knowledge that they did a service for Uncle Sam. It is unusual that a good attendance is obtained at an election board meeting, but at the conference planned this week all 40 presiding judges of the county were present. It is possible, and highly probable, that all may be called for additional duties in the service of Uncle Sam during the next year or so, and I feel sure that no matter what is asked of Pickaway County's fine residents that a wholehearted spirit of co-operation will be shown.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CITY FOLK

RESIDENTS: During the last couple of weeks the U. S. Army has found it necessary to send processions of speeding trucks over Route 23, the main north and south highway through Circleville. I have wondered at times just why these big vehicles had to travel at such a fast speed through the middle of town, but I have been reminded that Route 23 has been designated as a Military Highway, and the Army has full power and authority over the speed maintained by traffic over the road. An escort is usually asked, and the city is pledged to provide all assistance sought. So, at any time that you see a long string of Army trucks heading north or south disregarding traffic lights, think nothing of it, because the Army has the right of way. The only thing left for you to do is stay at the side of the street or at the intersection until the trucks pass.

TO CHAMPION HUSKERS

COMPETITORS: The hats off department this week applauds Paul Winn and Oran Schooley for winning Pickaway County's corn husking championships, the former in the shocked corn contest and the latter in the standing corn event. The records attained by both were quite remarkable, and they indicate that Pickaway County will be well represented at the Alexandria farm competition in Marion County next week. Congratulations go, also, to Lawrence Wright and to others who entered in the spirit of the competition and forced both winners to establish records in order to win first place positions. Thanks, too, to the owners of the farm on which the husking bee was conducted, and to the persons responsible for planning it and making it such a success.

TO VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

EX-SOLDIERS: The parade your organization planned and conducted last Sunday afternoon was one of the finest and most successful that Circleville has seen in a long while. The spirit of Americanism stressed by your organization was carried out beautifully, the weather was good and the audience watching the procession was a splendid one. I congratulate you, too, for having such a fine program in Memorial Hall when a large crowd heard Supreme Court Judge Arthur Day discuss our democracy and what it means to all of us.

about it is a different proposition. Still, Benito and Adolf are so much in cahoots that it doesn't seem as if Benito would outline a scheme that Adolf wouldn't acquiesce in.

That's all very well, so far as Italy and Germany are concerned. But what does Japan think about it?

Today the Japs are hooked up with the Axis. And it's an old story that the mikado persistently has had an eye on Australia—and on New Zealand, too, as a side-show. He probably wouldn't figure on getting his clamps upon Canada or the British West Indies. Presumably Italy hasn't yet thought of gobbling the Anzac end of the British empire, and maybe Germany hasn't either. Germany, nevertheless, surely doesn't have the Dutch East (not necessarily the Dutch West) Indies in mind. And if Mr. Hitler manages to wallop the British and cop off Java and adjoining islands (the Dutch East Indian group) it's no good bet that he won't take a fancy to Australia and New Zealand also.

Italy doesn't so much matter. Benito's interest mainly is in Africa.

Deep Massage As a Home Aid in Arthritis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● We suggested yesterday that as a general platform and program for the care of the invalid with arthritis that there wasn't any use saying "He should go to a hospital," or "She should seek a proper climate." In the first place, the economic condition of the average patient does not permit that; in the second place, if all the arthritic invalids went to a climate there wouldn't be enough beds or rooms to house them.

We believe the best general treatment for arthritis is some form of physical therapy—manipulation, heat, exercise—and that it is possible to devise simple home-made methods of applying these. It is quite possible to teach a home mother to give good massage. Of course, it should be done at first under the direction of a doctor or professional masseur.

Before describing that further, however, I should like to emphasize the value of something entirely different from manipulation—which is rest. In one of O. Henry's stories he made quite a point of the part that all the doctors he went to see advised "Rest and exercise." It isn't quite as contradictory as it sounds. Alternation of rest and manipulation in arthritis, with more rest than manipulation, is a key to treatment.

Rest Important

And rest is certainly one of the God-given remedies that was designed to be carried out at home. It is one of the obvious things in treatment that is so close under our eyes it is overlooked. Of course, I mean rest in bed with the affected limb at rest—in a cast, if necessary. I don't mean the kind of rest that is implied in the sentence, "Now, grandpa, you rest right here and all you have to do is answer the telephone and the doorbell."

On Wings of Song

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

"Hello, sweetheart! The old man wants to see me?"

CHAPTER ONE

A DOOR OPENED and closed quickly. Two flannel-clad legs vaulted the office railing, and a quick voice said "Hello, sweetheart! The old man wants to see me?"

The senior secretary did not look up. "He does," she said solemnly. "You can go right in."

He had already gone in.

The girl on the outer side of the railing had a momentary impression of the backs of long legs, of broad shoulders and the cavalier carriage of a crisply brushed head as the door marked J. T. Gregory, President, closed back of them.

The senior secretary resumed her reading of the letter in her hand. She read it through a second time, giving herself a moment before meeting the darkening eyes fixed on her with a dreadful sort of gaze, felt that still breathing innumerable times before as she perused the letters of introduction addressed to the president of the Consolidated Broadcasting company.

Familiar phrases ran beneath her eyes:

"... the writer feels that Miss Reilly has great talent and would consider it a personal favor if you would arrange an audition for her."

She put the letter back into its envelope and handed it across the railing. "It's a very nice letter," she said, smiling.

"Thank you. Do . . . do you think it will help me?" the girl asked. "The writer is program director at WRTX. He knows my work well. I sang on his station for a year before I came to New York. If Mr. Gregory would just . . . just . . ." She stopped, conscious of the note of desperate anxiety she had tried to keep out of her voice.

"I'll show it to him if you wish. However, I think if you take it to Mr. Munson's office, you'll get quicker action. He arranges all the auditions. I'll ring his secretary and see—"

She broke off as the bell of her desk telephone rang, and picked up the instrument.

Kit Reilly thrust her hands into her pockets. They would tremble. Her eyes, straying over the luxurious office, felt warm with resentment that ran like a slim flame along the growing edges of her despondency. The fabricated walls, the thick carpet, the subdued color tones, were part of the design of the place, labeled by the word "Noiseless" on the typewriters; it was a room designed to keep the Kit Reillys from the overedge of hysteria.

"All I ask is a chance!" The cry was in her heart, stopped before it could pass her lips.

"This is your last chance!"

The sentence, spoken with angry emphasis, separated clearly from the babble of voices that came from the room with the closed door and startled Kit Reilly.

The secretary was speaking into the telephone. "Sorry, I can't put Mr. Healey on the wire just now. She glanced over her shoulder toward the door where the angry voice could be heard. "He's in conference with Mr. Gregory. . . . I'll give him your message."

Something quick and eager leaped into the Reilly girl's eyes; it shortened her breath when she spoke:

"Is that . . . that VANCE Healey?" Her vague gesture indicated the presence that had passed a moment before.

"In person," the secretary answered without looking up, as she dialed an inter-office number. When she did, she cast an uneasy glance at the door back of her. Mr. Gregory, she thought, ought not to raise his voice under the circumstances.

FOOTBALL GAME CHANGED

The grid meeting of Ohio State and Minnesota at Columbus will be described over WLW on Saturday afternoon, October 19, in place of the Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame game originally scheduled. Dick Bray will be at the microphone, with Dan Riss doing "color" aspects of the contest.

On Saturday, October 26, WLW has put the Wisconsin-Purdue game on the broadcast menu. The play-by-play will originate from the Purdue stadium in Lafayette, Indiana.

CORN SHUCKING CONTEST

A direct wire broadcast of the Ohio State Corn Shucking Contest will highlight "Everybody's Farm Hour" over WLW, Thursday, October 24, at 12:35 p. m. The contest, one of the biggest affairs of its kind in the Middle West, is expected to attract more than 30,000 people. Ed Mason, farm program director, and associates in the station's farm department, have promised an "ear-by-ear" description of the final stages of the event.

Entertainment at the contest will feature Hugh Cross and his Radio Pals and the Girls of the Golden West.

NEW YORK U. STUDENTS WANT BATES IN LINEUP

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—A group of New York University students today were making plans for a campus protest to attempt to get Leonard Bates, a Negro sophomore fullback, into the lineup November 2 when the Violets meet Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

Dr. Mal Stevens, head football coach at N. Y. U., said there was no hard and fast rule barring Bates, but that it was mutually understood between the schools that Negro players would not be used against Missouri. He said Bates had been appraised earlier of this situation and had acquiesced.

JOCKEYS QUESTIONED

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 18—The remaining seven jockeys who rode in the sixth at Jamaica Monday of last week when Jockey Johnny Barba was fatally injured in a fall were to be questioned at the district attorney's office today. Five of the riders were heard yesterday. Barba was kicked in the head by his mount, Canape, and died without regaining consciousness.

Minnesota, Pitt, Notre Dame Liked By Guesser

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—The biggest possible upsets that could occur in major football games on Saturday would be for Notre Dame, Cornell and Boston College to lose. Therefore, we will start this week's selections in this fashion:

Notre Dame to beat Carnegie Tech, Cornell to run over Syracuse and Boston College to give Idaho its lumps.

We will go even a little farther on those three and forecast that, as usual, the Notre Dame first team won't be in the game long enough for Piepul, Saggau, Hargrave and Cornell will remain unscored on and that Idaho will emerge from its clash at Boston still without a touchdown all year.

Having stuck our neck out on those just far enough to show a fluctuating Adam's apple, we now offer these tid-bits:

East

Pittsburgh over Fordham, Georgia over Columbia, Penn over Princeton, Duke over Colgate, Harvard over Army, Dartmouth over Yale, Navy over Drake, Penn State over Lehigh, Holy Cross over New York University, Brown over Tufts, and in games tomorrow night Georgetown to beat V.P.L., Detroit over Manhattan, Michigan State over Temple.

Of the foregoing, the outstanding pick against prevailing opinion is Pittsburgh over Fordham, but we still think Krakem & Co., will be able to take the Rams of Fordham in a rough, tough, close ball game.

Midwest

Minnesota over Ohio State, Michigan over Illinois, Northwestern over Wisconsin, Indiana over Iowa, Nebraska over Kansas, Missouri over Iowa State, and Kansas over Oklahoma.

Of these, Minnesota and Ohio State are a virtual toss-up and the latter may be favored by the majority. Indiana hasn't won a game yet and may be tripped again, while the Michigan-Illinois encounter will bring back memories of last season's greatest upset—that Illinois' win over the Michigans.

South

Georgia Tech over Vanderbilt, Mississippi over Duquesne, Kentucky over George Washington, North Carolina State over North Carolina, Rice over Tulane, Maryland over Florida, Louisiana State over Mercer, Mississippi State over Howard, and a three-star special—Alabama over Tennessee.

In the latter Tennessee will be the heavy favorite, but Alabama has a great chance to come through with its 210-pound line and a big fast backfield. This will be Alabama's first test after three games with warmup foes, while Tennessee sharpened up for the game by beating Duke two weeks ago, then taking a breather.

Southwest

Texas A. M. over Texas Christian, Southern Methodist over Auburn, Baylor over Villanova, Texas over Arkansas and Texas Tech over Brigham Young. Villanova, one of the East's better teams, seems to be riding to a fall.

BAER TO BRING STAGE BACK TO ITS POSITION

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—We have with us today that eminent thespian, Max Baer, who is starting rehearsals for a starring part in a Broadway musical comedy, scheduled to open at New Haven about the end of the month.

Lend an ear to the former heavyweight champion:

"I may not have John Barrymore's profile, but I can pack 'em in at the box office just as good as he can."

"Sid Silvers and I will lay 'em in the aisles with our comedy stuff in this show. I'm getting $2,500 a week for my acting so why should I think about Joe Louis?"

"I'm here to revive and resuscitate the Broadway stage. Remember how I brought the fight game back to life by flattening Tony Galento and Pat Comiskey? I'm going to do the same for the stage."

"I made good in pictures, too. And eventually I'm going to give radio a break."

"Now, let me read you some of my lines in this new show." Right there is where everybody left.

PITT VETERANS START

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18—Taking no chances with the Panthers, Coach Jimmy Crowley of the Fordham Rams was determined today on starting the same team that beat Tulane last week against Pitt tomorrow. The backfield may be re-arranged as the game progresses, but the starting order calls for both Len Eshmont and Jim Blumenstock. Later, the two may be alternated in the tail-back spot with Ed Shelosky taking over Blumenstock's regular stint as wing-back.

BUCKS TO SHOOT WORKS AGAINST GOPHER ELEVEN

Jim Strausbaugh To Take Place In Lineup For 'Comeback' Tilt

COLUMBUS, Oct. 18 — Ohio State University's defending Big Ten grid champions today promised to "shoot the works" in an engagement with the mighty Minnesota Gophers in Ohio Stadium tomorrow afternoon before an expected capacity crowd of 72,000.

With the team at full strength for the first time this season as Halfback Jimmy Strausbaugh returned to the lineup, the Bucks must win this one from the Gophers or a new champion will be crowned in November.

The 6 to 3 defeat at Northwestern might not be enough to eliminate the Bucks from the race, but a licking from Minnesota would eliminate the Scarlet and Gray with no more ado.

Although far from optimistic about his team's chances against the strapping Gophers, Coach Francis Schmidt predicts, "We'll come bouncing back. One licking hasn't wrecked our hopes."

Coach Bernie Bierman and his team were scheduled for a workout at Dayton University stadium this afternoon and will not entrain for Columbus until Saturday morning. The Bucks will hold a light practice in the stadium today after four hard scrimmages earlier in the week.

Despite the defeat at the hands of the Wildcats, football hysteria hit the High Street area today full blast. The city was again the football capital of the nation with all the ace sports announcers and writers present for the game that may move the Gophers into the Big Ten spotlight or send the Bucks back into the upper class of grid timber.

Odds along the Columbus main stem ranged from even money to 3 and 4 to one on the invaders, with plenty of takers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18—There exists a growing suspicion that the four Western Conference games scheduled for tomorrow may have some bearing on the eventual outcome of the Big Ten gridiron championship race than can possibly meet the eye at this early stage in the season.

Suppose, for the sake of an argument if for no other reason: Wisconsin beats Northwestern, Illinois defeats Michigan, Ohio State ticks Minnesota and Indiana whips Iowa.

Still on this argumentative basis the football season in the Western conference then would be in the position of starting all over again—with one strike against all the early favorites in the race for titular honors.

An Ohio State win over Minnesota could not be called an upset. But if Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois should triumph tomorrow, self-styled experts doubtless would welcome the comparative peace and quiet of life with Uncle Sam's army.

GOPHERS TO STAGE DRILL ON DAYTON U. GRIDIRON

DAYTON, Oct. 18—Minnesota's football aggregation came to Dayton today for a workout on the University of Dayton's gridiron. The Gophers, 36 strong, will continue to Columbus tomorrow morning for the clash with Ohio State.

with attempting to sell military secrets to an agent of an unnamed power.

When naval officers attempted to question the Japanese after he was seized on the Langley, he feigned insanity. He was wearing wet clothing and apparently had climbed on the ship after swimming from a nearby island beach. Captain Romero, meanwhile, was held in the army guardhouse while intelligence officers investigated all the recent activities of both him and his American wife.

The military charges against Captain Romero stated that "the documents were obtained originally from the headquarters of the Fourteenth Engineers to which the officer had access due to his responsible position."

The documents photographed were believed to be those of secret military roads and bridges in northern Luzon.

Captain Romero was graduated seventeenth in his 1931 class at West Point.

ous highway gy tonight. Hundreds, bearing arms, munitions, airplane parts and other war implements, already have passed through Lashio.

In addition to this 100,000 tons of materials, another 500,000 tons, including planes, was ready to be loaded aboard 3000 more trucks at Rangoon, where vast stores for China piled up during the three months the road was closed.

Returning from China the trucks will carry tungsten, wood, tin, seed oil, antimony, pig bristles and other Chinese products for export, principally to the United States.

Meanwhile, Lashio instituted air raid precautions against possible Japanese bombing attacks. Opening of the road marked the end of Britain's policy of appeasement in the Far East.

INVASION COAST RAIDED BY RAF; MANY PORTS HIT

52 War Centers in Reich Blasted in Last Two Weeks By British announcement said today, all RAF bomber operations were cancelled owing to unfavorable weather conditions.

In addition it was asserted that 52 war centers in Germany alone had been bombed between October 5 and 15, particularly oil depots, seaports and railways.

The newest British attacks on Boulogne, Cherbourg, Calais and Dunkerque followed a terrific daylight raid on the German-occupied French port of Brest. There, according to returning pilots, a huge power station was ruined and docks, freight sheds and shipping were blasted.

Last night's German raid on London was the longest of the war, but its effects were considerably less than during some previous raids as a result of intense anti-aircraft barrages.

The all-clear finally sounded shortly before 7 a. m. after a prolonged lull, terminating London's 228th alarm of the war. It was the capital's 41st consecutive night attack.

Even before the all-clear was given thousands of workers jammed busses and trains on their way to work, ignoring occasional bursts of anti-aircraft fire and airplanes droning overhead through the mist.

During the night the raiders came over the city in small groups and attempted to penetrate the defenses at many points. For the most part, however, they were frustrated by anti-aircraft fire.

Bombs were scattered over wide areas on the outskirts of London and British sources charged the Germans were deliberately resorting to a campaign of terrorization.

In the London area itself a hospital, a fire station and a block of apartments were among the buildings hit.

Liverpool and other Merseyside towns experienced a widespread attack. Two hospitals, a school, a nursing home and a sanitarium were among the buildings hit in that region.

Hospital Blasted In one of the hospitals struck no casualties occurred, seemingly by a miracle. Some damage was done in Liverpool by a fire, but it was extinguished quickly.

For the most part, in central London, the attack proved one of the quietest in weeks. The central areas of the city were affected only lightly by incendiary bombs.

BERLIN, Oct. 18—"Several hundred planes carried out successful night attacks on 'war-important objectives' in London, an official Berlin announcement today.

Numerous fires were observed in the British capital, the statement said, and one observation balloon and three barrage balloons were shot down.

The announcement conceded that four German planes were lost.

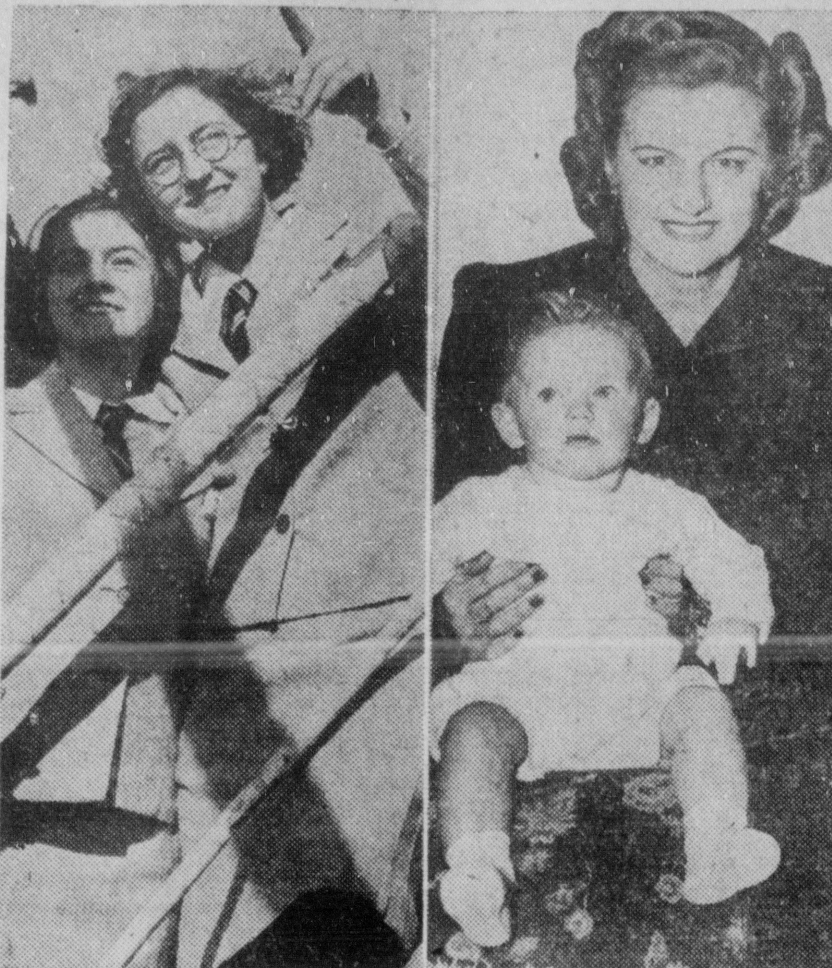

According to German authorities the planes that attacked London during the night were attached to three separate German flying corps. But it was pointed out that this did not mean all the planes of the three corps were engaged in the attack.

Official quarters added that the numerical peak of German planes over London was reached several days ago, when approximately 1,000 machines flew over the city during a 24-hour period.

FORCED TO ABANDON LOOT

TOKYO, Japan. — When a burglar stole parts of the ancient armor suit of Emperor Chokel, which His Majesty wore in the first century, he found he had loot that was in the American gangster's language, too hot to handle. Authorities on the value of the relics say they are worth Yen 1,000,000 or about $200,000.

When the sergeant was booking him, he asked Maxie what his occupation was.

"Dancer," muttered Rosenbloom out of the corner of his mouth. Asked why, he explained: "Oh, I like it better. It sounds more dignified."

Maxie said he didn't know it was wrong to hold a football lottery ticket.

"Besides," he added, "I was just standing there on the curb looking at it and them coppers pinched me."

for GOVERNOR His Record is CLEAR!

During the four years preceding the election of John W. Bricker as Governor, Ohio newspapers were filled with ugly reports of waste, inefficiency and corruption in state offices. Governor Bricker cleaned house, as he had promised. He rooted out extravagance and insisted on common honesty in state business. His record is clear. There have been no scandals during his administration. He kept the state within its income and paid off millions of the inherited debt, yet paved more miles of road per year and turned over more actual dollars for schools, old age pensions, relief, unemployment compensation and the like than did his predecessor.

In the coming election, John Bricker is opposed by the very man whose administration reeked with the "hot-mix" mess, the "truckless trucks" contract, the "shakedown" on state purchases, the political manipulation of old age pensions, the relief middle, the Senate graft probe and other unsavory activities. Vote to retain Governor Bricker in office — unless you want Ohio turned back to the same brazen crew from which he rescued it.
